

University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety

Mission Statement

The University of Pikeville is committed to the safety and welfare of all campus members and guests and commits itself to promoting a safe and secure environment. Because no campus can totally isolate itself from crime, the University of Pikeville has developed a series of policies and procedures designed to ensure that every possible precaution is taken to protect the campus community.

Office Information

The Department of public safety reports to the dean of students. Public safety works closely with all departments at the university to ensure that safety policy and procedures are uniformly executed and conveyed in a clear and consistent manner to all the universities students, faculty and staff.

The office is located in the Condit Hall residence building. It is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Uniformed Public safety officers, a supervisor, and a director provide around-the-clock patrol services to the campus community. Public safety officers are responsible for a full range of safety services to the University of Pikeville community including all crime report investigations, medical emergencies, fire emergencies, traffic accidents and enforcement of all university policies including those relating to alcohol use, drug use and weapons possession. Public safety officers submit incident reports on all crimes on campus reported to the department. These incident reports are filed and maintained within a report keeping database and automatically become part of its recordkeeping process. All serial numbers of vehicles and office equipment stolen from campus are reported through the Pikeville Police Department to the National Crime Information Center (NCIC).

Campus Policies

The University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety is dedicated to enhancing the opportunity for students, faculty and staff to participate in the educational experience by providing a safe, protected and orderly environment. The safety of our students, faculty, staff and visitors is of primary importance. The University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety seeks participation by all members of the University of Pikeville family in our efforts. We want to provide direct contact with officers and personalized services as we enforce the university's rules and regulations.

As a service organization, the department offers a full range of security resources, including preventative patrols (24 hours), criminal investigations, crime prevention, facilities security, special event services and parking management and enforcement.

We also serve the university community by providing safety analysis for the campus, hazard inspections and personal escorts. The department of public safety also strives to ensure the safety of our university family by offering several interactive teaching sessions related to safety and security of the students, faculty and staff.

Overall, the men and women of the University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety believe in providing proactive crime prevention and prompt, friendly service to you and the university community.

Daily Crime Log

The University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety maintains a daily crime log that lists all reported crimes. The log outlines the logistics of the crime (date, time, location), the nature of the crime, and how the crime was handled. It can be found at <http://myspace.pc.edu/security/crimereport.asp>.

Crime Statistics

The Public Safety Department, under the direction of the chief of public safety or his or her designee, gathers and compiles the University of Pikeville's crime statistics. In addition to the crimes reported to public safety, the chief also solicits information from the office of the student services and the department of athletics. Crime statistics in this report from off-campus venues and adjacent streets were compiled in collaboration with the Pikeville Police Department.

These crime statistics are substantiated by the department of public safety in collaboration with the dean of students, the director of athletics and the Pikeville Police Department. Double counting of these crimes is avoided by an oversight process conducted by the chief of public safety.

It should be noted that the Campus Security Act was amended in 1998. Any marked increase across years or in the revised statistics from previous years can be accounted for by the fact that the geographic boundaries for reporting were greatly expanded in 1998 and reporting of drug, alcohol and weapons violations was also broadened to include not only arrests but also disciplinary referrals.

Emergency Response, Notification and Testing Policy

Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation, UPIKE Department of Public Safety will determine the segment of the campus community to be notified, determine the content of the notification and initiate the notification system. Additional assistance for this process may be provided by the office of the president, dean of students or other university administrators.

Emergency notification of the campus community will occur if there is an imminent threat to life, health or safety reported to public safety. The emergency notification message will be distributed through one or more of the following methods:

- UPIKE Emergency Text Alerts “BEARALERT” (tested the first Monday of each month)
- Distributed through email (university-wide notice)
- Posted to the university website homepage

The University of Pikeville will initiate the notification system, without delay, unless issuing the notification will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist a victim, or to contain, respond to or otherwise mitigate the emergency. The contribution by Public Safety will be dependent on the size of the crisis and availability of DPS personnel.

Since public safety is not a service dispatching center, all emergency 911 calls are taken by Pikeville City Police and UPIKE officers are dispatched accordingly. If a reported emergency on the UPIKE campus may also pose a threat to the larger community, Pikeville City Police may, as advised, contact local emergency response agencies and may initiate other emergency notification procedures. If needed, UPIKE and/or Pikeville City Police will also disseminate emergency information to the larger community through the emergency notification system and local media.

While a timely warning may be issued in response to specific crimes, an emergency notification may be initiated in the case of an imminent threat to the life, health, or safety of students or employees occurring on campus. UPIKE Public Safety will investigate such incidents to determine if the situation does, in fact, pose an imminent threat to the life, health or safety of the campus community. Threat confirmation may also be confirmed through the office of the president. If an emergency notification is activated, the University of Pikeville is not required to issue a timely warning based on the same circumstances; however, UPIKE will provide adequate follow-up information to the community as needed.

Emergency Notification System Testing

The University of Pikeville will test emergency response and evacuation procedures on at least a quarterly basis. Emergency notification system testing is documented by public safety. This documentation includes a description of the exercise, the test date, time and whether the test was announced or unannounced.

The test will be an opportunity to remind the campus community about established emergency response and evacuation procedures.

Response and evacuation procedures are publicized along with one of the annual emergency notification systems testing dates and accompany the annual crime statistics reporting. This information can be viewed at: http://www.upike.edu/Student-Services/Campus-Police/crime_reporting.

Emergency Response and Evacuation Plans

In addition to the emergency notification tests, the university provides information on emergency response and evacuation procedures to the campus as a whole through emergency action plans and evacuation charts posted on each floor of all occupied buildings. The plans and evacuation charts were distributed to every department and are posted in public places. Each non-residential building has a designated building emergency coordinator who is responsible for maintaining building emergency plans and educating occupants regarding these plans.

Campus Emergency Response Plan

The university's department of public safety maintains and updates the campus' emergency response plan, which includes plans, policies and procedures on emergency notification and evacuation. The university emergency response plan is intended to provide policy, procedure and organizational structure for response to an emergency or disaster that disrupts the functioning of all or parts of the university.

Timely Warnings

To help prevent crimes or serious incidents, the UPIKE Department of Public Safety, in collaboration with other departments on campus, will issue a campus safety alert or notice in a timely manner to notify the campus community about certain crimes in and around our community that potentially constitute an ongoing or continuing threat. For the purposes of this policy, "timely manner" generally means within 48 hours after an incident has been brought to the attention of a "campus security authority" as defined in the Clery Act.

Members of the community who know of a crime or other serious incident should report that incident as soon as possible to public safety so the department can make a determination regarding issuing an alert.

If community members report crimes or serious incidents to other university administrators, those administrators should notify the UPIKE Public Safety Department. Representatives of this office will promptly notify and collaborate with appropriate university officials to issue a campus safety alert, if one is appropriate.

Upon receiving notice of a crime requiring the issuance of an alert, an administrator within the university department of public safety will consult with the office of public affairs and other key departments to assist in the dissemination.

Depending on the particular circumstances of the crime or other incident, specifically in those situations that could pose an immediate threat to members of the campus community, a campus safety/crime alert will be issued.

The department distributes campus safety/crime alerts in various ways. Once the university determines that an alert will be issued, the department e-mails the announcement and posts it on its website (www.upike.edu). The department also posts alerts on bulletins boards throughout the affected areas of campus and uses the BEARALERT emergency notification system.

Sexual Assault

Victims of sexual assaults are encouraged to report the crime to the department of public safety and/or the appropriate police agency with jurisdiction where the crime occurred. university officials will assist victims in notifying these authorities and obtaining support and assistance.

If the victim resides on campus and desires a change in assigned housing, they may contact the hall director or the office of residential life at 218-5229. If the victim desires a class schedule change, they may contact their academic advisor or counselor.

The range of sanctions for conviction of any conduct violation may be a reprimand up to dismissal from the university. (See student handbook for details.)

The accuser and accused have the right to have others present during a judicial disciplinary hearing and shall be notified of the outcome of a campus disciplinary hearing.

The victim of a sexual assault should not shower nor bathe so that evidence of the crime is preserved. All clothing, bedding and other physical evidence should be secured and turned over to the police.

Counseling services can be arranged directly by the victim, or with their consent, by the department of public safety or the office of student services.

The victim will receive, from anyone of the above offices, a sexual assault information packet. The victim and the accused are entitled to the same opportunities in regard to having others present at, and being informed of, the outcome of any institutional disciplinary proceeding. Upon receipt of a sexual assault complaint, a thorough investigation shall be completed. Victims have the option of making a report with or without prosecution. All incidents will be handled on the university level.

The Department offers free Rape Aggression Defense training to the students, faculty, staff and members of the community. Contact the department of public safety at 218-5940 to inquire.

Missing Student Policy and Procedure

University of Pikeville takes student safety very seriously. To this end, the following policy and procedure has been established to assist in locating University of Pikeville students living in college owned on-campus housing, who based on the facts and circumstances known to the university are determined to be missing. This policy has been established as required by the Higher Education Opportunity Act of 2008.

It is understood that the University of Pikeville is an open campus and resident students have opportunities during the academic year to take time away to visit family or friends. For purposes of this policy, a student may be considered to be a “missing student” if the person’s absence is contrary to his/her usual pattern of behavior and unusual circumstances may have caused the absence. Such circumstances could include a reasonable/reliable report or suspicion that the missing student may be endangered. Examples include, but are not limited to, possible victim foul play, expression of suicidal thoughts, alcohol or drug abuse, a life-threatening situation, or recent contact with persons who may endanger the student’s welfare.

I. Procedures for designation of emergency contact information

A. Students age 18 and above and emancipated minors: At the beginning of each academic year, University of Pikeville will notify all students in college housing of the opportunity to designate an individual or individuals to be contacted by the university no more than 24 hours after the time that the student is determined to be missing in accordance with the procedures set forth below. A designation will remain in effect until changed or revoked by the student and will be retained with their housing contract information. Students may change or revoke their emergency contact information through the student services office.

B. Students under the age of 18: In the event a student who is not emancipated is determined to be missing pursuant to the procedures set for the below, the university is required to notify a custodial parent or guardian no more than 24 hours after the student is determined to be missing in accordance with the procedures set forth below.

II. Official notification procedures for missing students

A. Any individual who has information that a student may be missing must notify the department of public safety as soon as possible.

B. Public safety will work with campus offices, the reporting person(s), and the student's acquaintances to gather all essential information about the student (description, clothes last worn, where student might be, who student might be with, vehicle description, information about the student's physical and mental well-being, and up-to-date photograph, class schedule, etc.). Appropriate campus staff will be notified to aid in the search for the students.

C. When a missing student report is made to the department of public safety, the chief will immediately notify appropriate student services staff.

D. Student services staff will contact the student's resident hall director and appropriate staff based on student's residence hall assignment.

E. Campus staff will take steps to try to locate the missing student, including but not limited to the following:

- Call the student's cell phone and /or other known phones
- Send residence director, resident assistant or housing coordinator to student's room.
- Contact roommate(s)
- Access student's vehicle information to locate and distribute to local authorities if necessary
- Access student's class schedule and seek information on last sighting or other contact information.
- Access reports to determine the last time student used a meal card or accessed residence hall.
- If student works on-campus, contact supervisor for contact information
- Call student's home number
- Request information from information technology about student's last electronic sign-in to UPIKE network systems
- Public safety may issue an ID picture to assist in identifying the missing student
- Public safety may search on campus public locations (library, cafeteria, etc.)

F. If these actions are unsuccessful in locating the student or it is apparent immediately that the student may be endangered; the following personnel will meet to determine if the student is missing.

- Vice president of student services
- Chief of public safety
- Dean of students
- Residence director

G. No later than 24 hours after determining that a student is missing, the following will take place:

- The department of public safety will contact the appropriate local law enforcement agency to report the student as a missing person and the local law enforcement agency will take charge of the investigation. The department of public safety will assist external authorities with these investigations as requested.
- The dean of students or designee, will notify the emergency contact (for students 18 and over) or the parent/guardian (for students under the age of 18) that the student is believed to be missing.
- For missing students who are 18 years of age or older, and did not designate an individual to be contacted, the dean of students or designee, will act in accordance with FERPA guidelines with regard to contacting a parent/guardian.

III. Campus Communications about missing students

In cases involving missing persons, law enforcement personnel are trained to provide information to the media in a manner designed to elicit public assistance in the search for the missing person. Therefore, all communications regarding missing students will be handled by outside law enforcement authorities who may consult with the University of Pikeville Public Affairs Department. Inquiries to the university regarding missing students will be referred to the public affairs department. Individuals with information about the missing student will be directed to the department of public safety who shall refer inquiries and information to law enforcement authorities.

Prior to providing the University of Pikeville community with any information about a missing student, the public affairs department shall consult with the department of public safety, student services and local law enforcement authorities to ensure that communications not only avoid hindering investigations but also that they comply with FERPA guidelines.

Alcohol & Drug Awareness

The University of Pikeville seeks to encourage and sustain an academic environment that respects individual freedoms and promotes the health, safety and welfare of its students, faculty, staff and visitors. These participants are expected to know and follow the applicable laws and all university rules and regulations. Each person is responsible for his/her own behavior.

The University of Pikeville complies with the Drug-Free School Communities Act of 1989. This act requires that the University of Pikeville certify it has adopted and implemented a program to prevent the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees in order to remain eligible for federal financial assistance, as set forth in local, state and federal laws, and the rules and regulations of the university.

The University of Pikeville prohibits the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students and employees in buildings, facilities, grounds or other property owned and/or controlled by the university or as part of university activities. Alcohol is not permitted on campus. Students who are convicted of an offense involving the sale or possession of a controlled substance may become ineligible for federal student aid.

For the university's complete drug and alcohol policy regarding the Drug-Free School and Communities Act, you may submit a request to the department of public safety or the office of student services. Student services and the department of public safety conduct drug and alcohol abuse education programs each semester.

Crime prevention is defined as the anticipation, recognition and appraisal of a crime risk and the initiation of some action to remove or reduce that risk. Many campuses around the country investigate and make public the nature and quantity of crimes, as well as how crimes are investigated. The University of Pikeville subscribes to that approach and further believes that the public should know how active the department of public safety is in crime prevention and detection. The University of Pikeville has experienced success at reducing and preventing crime.

Some of the notable efforts are:

- Emergency 911 dialing
- 24-hour preventative patrols
- Campus foot patrol by uniformed officers
- Custodial staff occupy many academic buildings after hours and provide information to the University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety about suspicious activity or persons in or around the building
- Crime prevention seminars and presentations conducted each semester with staff and student groups
- Crime prevention pamphlets available for students and employees
- Lighting survey

In addition to preventing crime, considerable effort is devoted to crime intervention. All reported crimes are investigated immediately. Follow-up investigations occur to identify the offenders. Where multiple incidents occur, surveillance techniques may be implemented to help apprehend violators. When caught, offenders are dealt with through the Pike County court system and the University of Pikeville when appropriate. The department of public safety encourages the accurate and prompt reporting of criminal incidents, no matter how insignificant or small. Victims are encouraged to insist upon a proper investigation and subsequent filing of charges. Victims are further encouraged to insist on restitution or compensation for losses and demand severe sanctions. Through these measures, the University of Pikeville will become a safer community.

Crime Reporting

Crime victims, and witnesses to a crime regardless of the crime, are encouraged to promptly report incidents to public safety or other appropriate police agency.

To report a crime, the victim or witness needs only to call the security phone number and an officer will meet with them to gather information. An official report will be made with copies available to the victim after a completed investigation. Each day the incident from the previous day, excluding names, are summarized and made available to the public, staff, faculty, students, other law enforcement agencies and the media via the Internet.

Each year the number of incidents in each category of crime are counted and reported to the state and federal government in compliance with the Clery Act of 1990.

The University of Pikeville is committed to providing a supportive learning environment and fostering safe, healthy relationships among our students. As such, the institution and members of our community will not tolerate the offenses of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking. This program is intended to help you learn more about these issues, as you play an important role in keeping our campus safe.

Services

The department of public safety has mutual aid agreements with the Pikeville City Police, the Pike County Sheriff's Department and the Kentucky State Police, allowing for cooperation in enforcement activities and the sharing of information. The University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety officers provide a positive image to visitors and members of the campus community, whether it is providing directions, parking information or just offering a friendly welcome.

Officers represent the university as a group of caring and professional people, intent upon enhancing a friendly atmosphere. Necessary enforcement includes using alternatives to arrest when reasonable. Participation in athletic and special events ensures that all aspects of planning consider the safety and security of all participants. Officers provide professional crowd control and traffic regulation before, during and after such events.

Students and staff find our office personnel willing to share statistics, insights and experiences as a basis for class reports or vocational interests. The University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety officers seek proactive means to avoid problems and situations, whether it is suggesting an added security measure, providing insight on planned activities or using investigative analysis to assign a deterrent force.

For the University of Pikeville Department of Public Safety, "service" is not just a word or a part of a catchy slogan, but a way of life. Services such as motorist assist, money transports and emergency notifications are handled routinely. Safety hazard inspections are routinely held to ensure the safety of each and every person in our campus community. Overall, the department believes in providing proactive enforcement of law and university regulations as a service to you, the university community.

Title IX – Statement and Procedures

Introduction and Scope

Title IX is part of the United States Education Amendments of 1972 (now the Equal Opportunity in Education Act of 2002). Title IX provides, “No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.” Title IX requires universities that receive federal funds to prevent, investigate and respond to acts of gender biased conduct that limits or denies educational access, benefits or opportunities to any member of the university community.

The University of Pikeville is committed to complying with Title IX and related laws including the Jeanne Clery Act (Clery Act) and the Campus Sexual Violence Elimination Act (SaVE Act). The university is also committed to providing a safe learning and working environment. Therefore, the university has adopted policies and procedures to prevent and respond to incidents of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking. These policies and procedures apply to all members of the university community, including students, faculty and staff, as well as contractors and visitors. The university will not tolerate sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, as defined below, in any form. Persons determined to have violated these policies face penalties up to and including dismissal or termination from the university, regardless of whether they are also facing criminal or civil charges in court.

Defining Sexual Harassment and Other Sexual Misconduct

Sexual harassment and other forms of sexual misconduct addressed below are examples of sex discrimination. The determination of what constitutes each will vary according to the facts and circumstances of each case.

Sexual harassment can take one of two forms. The first form involves unwelcome verbal, electronic, physical and/or visual conduct based on sex, which both (1) unreasonably interferes with an individual’s work or educational performance, and (2) creates an environment that both a reasonable person and the specific person being harassed would find intimidating, hostile or offensive. The second form involves either (1) submission to unwelcome advances of supervisory personnel as an express or implied condition of receiving work or educational benefits, or (2) a tangible work or educational detriment resulting from the employee’s or student’s failure or refusal to submit to sexual demands of supervisory personnel (i.e., a power relationship). Examples of sexual harassment include, but are not limited to:

- Unwelcome sexual flirtation or advances.
- Offering employment, promotions, grades or other benefits in exchange for sexual favors.
- Making or threatening reprisals for refusing sexual advances.

- Unwelcome visual and/or electronic conduct such as leering; making sexual gestures; displaying sexually suggestive objects or pictures, cartoons or posters; and suggestive or obscene letters, notes or invitations.
- Unwelcome verbal or electronic conduct such as derogatory comments; epithets; slurs; sexual innuendo; sexual jokes; graphic verbal commentaries about a person's body; and sexually degrading words used to describe a person.
- Unwelcome physical conduct such as unwarranted, suggestive or offensive touching; and impeding or blocking movement. Other forms of sexual misconduct covered by this policy include sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking as defined below. Sexual assault refers to any sexual act directed against another person, forcibly and/or against the person's will; or not forcibly or against the person's will where the survivor is incapable of giving consent, as well as incest or statutory rape. Domestic violence includes felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by:
 - A current or former spouse or intimate partner of the survivor;
 - A person with whom the survivor shares a child in common;
 - A person who is or was residing in the same household as the survivor; or
 - Any person against someone who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction.
 Dating violence refers to violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the survivor. Stalking occurs when an individual engages in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for his or her safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress.

Defining Consent

To engage in any kind of sexual activity, all participants must give consent. Consent is defined as permission or agreement for something to happen and in a sexual scenario. Consent must be given knowingly, unambiguously, voluntarily and affirmatively. It must exist and be clear at all times during sexual activity, from the beginning to end, and for each form of sexual contact. Even though consent does not necessarily need to be verbal, relying purely on non-verbal communication can lead to misunderstandings. So, a spoken agreement is the most clearly indicated form of consent. It may not, in any way, be inferred from silence, passivity, lack of resistance or lack of an active response alone. Assuming that consent was given by the absence of a "no" is wrong.

A prior relationship with the survivor does not mean that consent is given in all future activities. Even in these situations, clear agreement to sexual contact needs to be communicated. Consent to one form of sexual activity does not automatically mean consent to all forms of it. Consent must be given with rational and reasonable judgment, so if the survivor was physically incapacitated from the consumption of alcohol or drugs, unconsciousness or any other kind of inability, consent cannot be obtained. Also, it cannot be given under threat, coercion or force. Consent may be withdrawn by either party at any time. Any person that desires the sexual activity to end should clearly communicate to the other. Once consent has been revoked, sexual activity must cease.

Reporting

The university encourages any member of the university community who has experienced sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking, or knows of another member of the community who has experienced sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, to report the incident to the university. In case of an emergency or ongoing threat, a survivor should get to a safe location and call 911. Calling 911 will put you in touch with local police. Students and employees who have experienced sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking should report incidents to the university's Title IX coordinator and whose contact information is set out in this policy. The Title IX coordinator will provide survivors of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking with information about available support services and resources, and also assist any survivor in notifying law enforcement, including the local police, if the survivor elects to do so. The Title IX coordinator will assist all members of the university community by assessing the incident, advising the survivor on how he or she can seek legal protection and making the survivor aware of medical, counseling, and other support services. If a reported incident did not occur on campus, The Title IX coordinator can assist the survivor in notifying the local police department with jurisdiction over the crime. In no case should a survivor be dissuaded from reporting sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking to law enforcement. Survivors are not required to report to area law enforcement in order to receive assistance from or pursue any options within the university. Reporting sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking to the police (including university security officers) does not commit the survivor to further legal action. However, the earlier an incident is reported, the easier it will be for the police to investigate if the survivor decides to proceed with criminal charges.

Amnesty

Amnesty is a limited opportunity given to survivors and witnesses who in good faith come forward and report allegations of sexual misconduct. It will be used to incentivize the report of incidents or facilitate the investigation process. The University of Pikeville amnesty policy refers and is limited to amnesty from violations of the substance abuse policy.

In order to encourage students to seek immediate and appropriate attention, the fact that the person reporting was using alcohol or other prohibited substances at the time of the incident will be considered a minor violation and the university will focus on the investigation of the sexual allegations. The survivor or bystander who reports will not be held accountable for the minor violation and will be free of disciplinary actions for this specific situation. However, the amnesty policy will not tolerate or excuse repeated violations of the university's Substance Abuse Policy. Being granted amnesty once does not mean in any way the person violating policy will be protected in the future.

Survivors and witnesses should not be discouraged of reporting because of the violation of the university's Substance Abuse Policy.

Written Notice of Rights and Options

Any student or employee who reports an incident of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, whether the incident occurred on or off campus, shall receive a written explanation of their rights and options as provided for under this policy. These rights and options include the right(s) of a survivor to: · Go to court and to file a domestic abuse complaint requesting an order restraining your attacker from abusing you, and/or an order directing your attacker to leave your household, building, school, university or workplace; · Seek a criminal complaint for threats, assault and battery or other related offenses; · Seek medical treatment (the police will arrange transportation for you to the nearest hospital or otherwise assist you in obtaining medical treatment if you wish); · Request the police remain at the scene until your safety is otherwise ensured; · Request that a police officer assist you by arranging transportation or by taking you to a safe place, such as a shelter or a family or friend's residence; and · Obtain a copy of the police incident report at no cost from the police department.

Procedures Survivors Should Follow

If an incident of sexual assault, domestic assault, dating violence, or stalking occurs, it is important to preserve evidence so that successful criminal prosecution remains an option. The survivor of a sexual assault should not wash, shower or bathe, douche, brush teeth, comb hair, or change clothes prior to a medical exam or treatment. If a survivor has removed the clothing he or she was wearing during the assault prior to seeking medical treatment, that clothing should be placed in a brown paper, not plastic, bag and brought to the hospital when treatment is sought. If the survivor is still wearing the clothes that he or she was wearing during an assault, he or she should bring a change of clothes with him or her to the hospital so that the clothes containing possible evidence can be preserved and examined for evidence of the crime. Evidence of violence, such as bruising or other visible injuries, following an incident of sexual assault, or domestic or dating violence, should be documented by taking a photograph. Evidence of stalking, including any communications such as written notes, email, voice mail, or other electronic communications sent by the stalker, should be saved and not altered in any way.

Confidentiality

Reports and personal information will be kept as confidential as possible, to the extent the law allows and to the extent confidentiality is consistent with the university's need to protect the safety of the university community. Complete confidentiality cannot be promised as the university will need to thoroughly investigate the case, and may need to share some information with relevant administrators of the university in order to further protect and prevent incidents. Reports to law enforcement may be shared with the university's Title IX coordinator and/or human resources. The university may be required by law to publish non-identifying information in campus crime statistics.

All school employees (with the exception of those bound by privilege such as medical professionals, counselors and chaplains) must share information with the university's Title IX coordinator that they learn of regarding a report of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic assault, dating violence or stalking, so the Title IX coordinator can investigate the matter and determine whether steps are needed to ensure the safety of the university community. It is the survivor's choice as to whether he/she participates in an investigation; however, the university may proceed with an investigation without the survivor's participation if there is concern for the safety of other members of the university community.

Accommodations

Regardless of whether a student or employee reports an incident of sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking to law enforcement or pursues any formal action, if they report such an incident to the university, the university is committed to providing them as safe a learning or working environment as possible. Upon request, the university will make any reasonably available change to a survivor's academic, living, transportation, and working situation. When a reported incident of abuse involves more than one member of the university community, the university's Title IX coordinator or the dean of students, as appropriate, may also issue an institutional "No contact" order, prohibiting the individuals from contacting one another, either on or off campus. Students may contact the dean of students' office 606-218-5224 for assistance, and employees may contact the office of human resources 606-218-5346 for assistance. University security officers will advise survivors of a reported incident of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking about how to seek a restraining order from a criminal court that directs the accused to refrain from abuse and to leave the survivor's household, building, school, university or workplace.

The university is committed to ensuring that orders of protection issued by courts are fully upheld on all university-owned, used and controlled property, as well as properties immediately adjacent to the university. Therefore, if any member of the university community obtains an order of protection or restraining order, he or she should promptly inform the Title IX coordinator and provide him/her with a copy of that order, so that the university can enforce it. The university is also committed to protecting survivors from any further harm, and if the Title IX coordinator determines that an individual's presence on campus poses a danger to one or more members of the university community, he/she can issue an institutional "No contact" or "No trespass" Order barring that individual from university property.

Safety Escorts

The university's Campus Security Office provides safety escorts 24 hours a day, seven days a week. This service provides students, faculty, and staff with walking or motor vehicle escort between locations on campus.

Title IX coordinator

The coordinator plays the main role in carrying out the university's commitment to provide a positive learning, teaching and working environment for the entire community. By providing training on preventing sex discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual violence, the coordinator strives to maintain a safe campus and provide a good university experience to all. Also, the coordinator can aid with any questions or complaints about the procedures adopted by the University of Pikeville.

The University of Pikeville's Title IX coordinator is:

Beth Bowersock

Administration Building, Room 203

Pikeville, KY 41501

Office: 606-218-5344

bethanybowersock@upike.edu

Investigation and Hearing Process

The university's Title IX coordinator will investigate alleged violations of this policy regardless of whether the conduct is alleged to have occurred on-campus or off-campus at a university-sponsored event. Each complaint must be evaluated on a case-by-case basis taking in consideration the relevant circumstances of each case. University officials will look at the record as a whole and analyze all facts and circumstances of the situation to determine if a violation occurred and, if so, what the appropriate outcome is.

The university's Title IX coordinator will promptly investigate alleged violations of this policy. The investigation will be impartial, reliable and include opportunity for both parties to present witnesses and evidence. The investigation process may include interviews, reviewing student and/or employee files, and gathering and examining other relevant evidence. The investigation process will be balanced and fair and give both the accused and the complainant the chance to discuss their involvement in the reported incident.

If the Title IX coordinator's investigation concludes that evidence exists to suggest that a violation of this policy more likely than not occurred, the Title IX coordinator will refer the case to be heard by the full university investigation committee. "Preponderance of the evidence" will be the burden of proof used, meaning the evidence must show it is more likely than not that a violation of this policy occurred. Each party will have the following hearing rights:

- The right to access information and evidence directly related to them within a reasonable time before hearing.
- The right to have an advisor of their choice present at the hearing.
- The right to introduce evidence and question witnesses at the hearing, provided, however, that the complainant and the accused will not be allowed to directly question each other.

Hearings will be closed to the public. Following a hearing, the investigation committee will deliberate and determine whether, given the evidence and testimony presented, it is more likely than not that a violation of this policy occurred. Possible hearing outcomes include, but are not limited to, changes to class schedules, changes to living arrangements, suspension or expulsion from the university, and reporting the incident to the local police. The measure taken will depend upon the individual circumstances.

The Title IX coordinator will inform both parties in writing of the outcome the investigation and/or hearing. Notice of the outcome will include key findings and any penalties or protective measures directly related to the party.

As a general rule, the university will complete the investigation and hearing process within 60 calendar days from receipt of a complaint. However, the university may extend that time frame under special circumstances such as complex cases requiring extensive investigation and breaks between academic periods making relevant parties or officials unavailable. The university will work to keep extensions to a minimum and will always keep the parties informed of the status of their case.

The complainant has the right to simultaneously file a criminal report, so if the incident was also reported to a state or local authority the university is still obligated to conduct an investigation separate from the police.

If the alleged perpetrator is not affiliated to the university, an investigation will still be conducted. However, the perpetrator may be issued a no contact or no trespass warning from the university unless and until the perpetrator is found not responsible. Likewise, if the perpetrator is a student from a visiting university, the university reserves the right to contact the visiting university and the local authorities for further investigation.

Throughout the process, arrangements will be made to prevent the parties from having direct contact or communication with each other.

The university will keep a record of the hearing and investigation process.

Appeal Process

Once a decision has been made and both parties have been notified, either party will have the right to appeal within 72 hours of receiving the decision.

The appeal must be sent by email, mail or fax to the vice president for enrollment management within 72 hours of notification of the decision. An appeal submitted after the deadline will not be processed.

The university's vice president for enrollment management will assess and decide the appeal based on the investigation and hearing record from the previous levels. An appeal will not be granted based purely on the dissatisfaction with the outcome of the investigation because it is not relevant in determining if a student is responsible.

Both parties will be notified in writing that an appeal was submitted. The burden of proof lies with the appellant.

Grounds for appeal are limited to the following:

- The university made a procedural error, which could have significantly affected the outcome.
- Previously unavailable and relevant evidence was found that could impact the final result.

- The penalties imposed or other protective measures taken are too severe based on the evidence of record.

The vice president for enrollment management will notify the parties of the outcome of the appeal. Appeal decisions are final. The university will keep a record of the appeal process.

Interim Measures

The university Title IX coordinator has the right to take necessary measures to protect student's rights and personal safety. Therefore, interim measures will be available to protect the complainant from any kind of retaliation or threatening situations during and after the investigation process. These measures include, but are not limited to, change in class schedules, living and transportation arrangements, and professional counseling. Arrangements will be made to guarantee the survivor's comfort and safety throughout the investigation process.

Retaliation

If you have been further harassed as a result of your complaint, please contact the Title IX coordinator immediately. Retaliation of any form will not be tolerated by the university.

Title IX – Training and Education

Title IX, requires that all employees and students must be provided training on sexual harassment and sexual violence, as well as the campus policies and procedures for reporting sexual harassment and sexual violence. The University of Pikeville will use online/classroom training for all on campus students.

Faculty and Staff

Both faculty and staff play an important role in helping the university carry out its commitment to Title IX. Many times survivors turn to teachers and staff members for help. Therefore, it is necessary to know the procedures to aid the student and to file a complaint. Also, the ability to notice signs of sex discrimination could protect the survivor from further harm.

All employees, including faculty and staff, will be required to take an online training program in order to facilitate a working understanding of Title IX and the university's related policies and procedures. Employees must complete training on an annual basis per schedules set by the Title IX coordinator. Employees who fail to complete training within the time allowed are subject to disciplinary action consistent with university policy.

Students

Students need to go through training which will enable them to seek help if they encounter sexual violence or sexual harassment as well gain knowledge about related university policies and resources. Student training aims to educate people about what Title IX means, what qualifies as sexual misconduct and what rights students have under policy.

Training is not only important to a student's personal safety but also to help others who might be in risk of or already subject to sexual harassment. Many times survivors feel intimidated to seek authorities help but with the guidance and help of a friend they find the courage to report the incident.

All students, including incoming freshmen, transfers, graduate, and professional school students, will be required to take a training program in order to facilitate a working understanding of Title IX and the university's related policies and procedures. Students must complete training on an annual basis per schedules set by the Title IX coordinator. Students who fail to complete the training within the time allowed will be subject to possible disciplinary action. Other educational programs and materials will be provided to students throughout the academic year through student services.

REPORTING SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

The university urges persons who have experienced sexual misconduct (i.e., sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence or stalking), or knows of someone who has experienced sexual misconduct, to report the incident to the university per these procedures in keeping with the university's Title IX policy. In case of an emergency or ongoing threat, a survivor should get to a safe location and call 911. Calling 911 will put you in touch with local police.

A. Responsible Employees

In addition to the Title IX coordinator, the university considers certain people to be "Responsible Employees" which means they are university employees who are required to report alleged sexual misconduct to the Title IX coordinator. You are encouraged to speak to a "Responsible Employee" to make reports of sexual misconduct. The following persons are "Responsible Employees" under this policy: the university's Title IX coordinator, human resources staff, the president of the university, members of the president's executive staff, faculty, library staff, director of residence life and all resident assistants who serve in university-owned residence halls. Any member of the university community can file a report with the Title IX coordinator, or "Responsible Employees." If a survivor shares an incident of sexual misconduct with a "Responsible Employee," he or she needs to know that it is the "Responsible Employee's" responsibility to notify the Title IX coordinator of the incident immediately.

B. Reporting Timeframe

Any person may file a complaint of sexual misconduct at any time. Early reporting is encouraged to preserve evidence and provide the survivor with information regarding rights, options and resources available under this policy and federal/state laws. The Title IX coordinator will provide survivors of sexual misconduct with information about available support services and resources, and also assist survivors in notifying law enforcement, including the local police, if a survivor elects to do so. Survivors are not required to report to area law enforcement in order to receive assistance from or pursue options within the university. Reporting sexual misconduct to the police does not commit the survivor to further legal action. However, the earlier an incident is reported, the easier it will be for the police to investigate if the survivor decides to proceed with criminal charges.

C. Reporting Options This section addresses options for reporting sexual misconduct. The university may investigate sexual misconduct even without a formal complaint whenever it knows or has reasonable cause to believe that sexual misconduct in violation of this policy has occurred.

1. Official Report: Persons are strongly encouraged to make an official report of any incident of sexual misconduct to the Title IX coordinator regardless of whether the incident occurred on or off campus. Official reports can be made directly to the Title IX coordinator via a written statement or an appointment. Official reporting initiates a course of immediate action. In cases where a complainant states he or she does not want to pursue a formal complaint, the ability of the university to investigate may be limited. Even if a complainant does not want to pursue an investigation, under some circumstances, the Title IX coordinator may have an obligation to investigate a complaint, such as when there is a risk to the campus community if the accused remains on campus. When determining whether to go forward with an investigation, the Title IX coordinator may consider the seriousness of the allegation, the age of the complainant, whether there have been other complaints or reports against the accused, and the rights of the accused to receive information about the complainant and the allegations if a hearing and possible sanctions may result from the investigation. If a person decides to make a formal report, a detailed (written, typed, emailed, or handwritten) statement of the alleged incident(s) should be submitted to the Title IX coordinator. This formal statement should be signed and dated. The statement should be as specific as possible, including dates, times, locations, a description of the alleged misconduct and the name(s) of the accused person(s), and further provide a list of any person(s) who may have information that would be helpful to the investigation and review. The Title IX coordinator will promptly investigate all formal reports.

2. Confidential Disclosure: Despite the university's strong interest in having persons report complaints of sexual misconduct, the university realizes that not everyone is prepared to make an official report to the university. You can seek help from certain resources that are not required to tell anyone else your private, personally identifiable information unless there is cause for fear for your safety or the safety of others. If a person desires that details of the incident be kept confidential, they should speak with off-campus counselors, advocates, mental health providers or rape crisis resources who can maintain confidentiality. Such professionals generally are not required to report personally identifiable information given in confidence unless given permission. If the person chooses not to pursue a judicial process option (e.g., criminal charges), no further action will be taken unless the professional who receives the concern believes there is an imminent threat to the survivor or others. Persons who disclose incidents of sexual misconduct to their counselors, advocates or other providers should discuss whether to have that counselor, advocate or provider report the misconduct to the university and request interim measures required by Title IX, or request discretionary support measures from the university without reporting the nature of the conduct.

3. Requests via a counselor, advocate or other provider: A survivor may have his/her counselor, advocate or other provider request interim measures from the university on the survivor's behalf. The request may trigger the university's obligation to investigate. To the extent a counselor, advocate or other provider makes a disclosure but, consistent with the survivor's wishes, asks the university not to investigate or otherwise notify the accused of the report, the Title IX coordinator will consider whether he/she can honor the request while still providing a safe and nondiscriminatory environment for all students, faculty and staff, and to take interim measures to protect the survivor as needed.

D. Confidentiality Reports and personal information will be kept as confidential as possible to the extent the law allows and to the extent confidentiality is consistent with the university's need to protect the safety of the university community. Complete confidentiality cannot be promised as the university will need to thoroughly investigate the case, and may need to share some information with relevant administrators of the university in order to further protect and prevent incidents. Reports to law enforcement may be shared with the university's Title IX coordinator. The university may be required by law to publish non-identifying information in campus crime statistics.

All school employees (with the exception of those bound by law not to disclose such as counselors or chaplains operating under privilege) must share information that they learn of regarding a report of sexual misconduct with the Title IX coordinator so they can investigate the matter and determine whether steps are needed to ensure the safety of the university community.

It is the survivor's choice as to whether he/she participates in an investigation; however, the university may proceed with an investigation without the survivor's participation if there is reasonable concern for the safety of other members of the university community.

E. Amnesty

Amnesty is a limited opportunity given to survivors and witnesses who in good faith come forward and report allegations of sexual misconduct. It will be used to incentivize the report of incidents or facilitate the investigation process. The University of Pikeville amnesty policy refers and is limited to amnesty from violations of the substance abuse policy.

In order to encourage students to seek immediate and appropriate attention, the fact that the person reporting was using alcohol or other prohibited substances at the time of the incident will be considered a minor violation and the university will focus on the investigation of the sexual allegations. The survivor or bystander who reports will not be held accountable for the minor violation and will be free of disciplinary actions for this specific situation. However, the amnesty policy will not tolerate or excuse repeated violations of the university's substance abuse policy. Being granted amnesty once does not mean in any way the person violating policy will be protected in the future.

Survivors and witnesses should not be discouraged of reporting because of the violation of the university's substance abuse policy.
