Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Additional guidance on reporting race and ethnicity data.

Unduplicated number of males enrolled in 2016-17	<input type="text" value="2"/>

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. ## Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2016-17. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2016-17 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

The information obtained is used in program redesign and improvement. 2. The Supervisor of Clinical Experience regularly confers with all P-12 teachers who serve as cooperating teachers for student teachers in the program and with several local principals to discuss ways to better prepare candidates to meet the needs of the schools. 3. The program surveys all principals and cooperating teachers who have student teachers in their schools to collect performance data and identify any needs of the schools that are not being met.

The technology course at the University of Pikeville enables teacher candidates to experience and explore a wide variety of hardware and software that can be used to enhance student learning, manage the classroom, and assess/reflect on student learning. The class is taught in a computer lab equipped with thirty student workstations, a teacher workstation, document camera, projector, and screen. The lab is equipped with software that allows an iOS device to be mirrored on the television. Candidates are exposed to new research in technology including current terminology and are given instruction on a weekly basis as how to ethically and legally use technology in the classroom. Emphasis is also placed on how to use technology to make and administer professional and effective presentations. Candidates are required to develop strategies to enhance lessons by incorporating technology into instructional development and completion of required assignments. An emphasis is also placed on developing candidates' knowledge and skills to actively engage P-12 students with available technologies within their classrooms.

All candidates in any teacher preparation program at the University of Pikeville are required to complete two courses related to meeting the needs of students with learning disabilities. Candidates discuss IDEA 2004 in their education courses. In the course Exceptional Learner in the Inclusive Classroom, candidates learn the steps involved in the development of an IEP and the general education teacher's role in each step. The candidates role play an IEP team meeting. Candidates must document field hours within P-12 classrooms. Their field experiences involve classroom observations with diverse groups of students, including students with disabilities and ESL students. All pedagogy and many content courses in our program integrate strategies for working with students with limited English proficiency or ESL students. ## Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The University of Pikeville provides an effective paradigm of educational beliefs and programming, ensuring a complete array of experiences, knowledge, dispositions, and skills to create success for the graduates of our professional education programs. Serving as a foundation for these beliefs and programs, the organizing theme "Empowering teachers to serve and lead in rural Appalachia and beyond" guides our growth and service. Our conviction that all students have potential to learn at high levels (regardless of exceptionalities and differences), functions as an impetus to facilitate a sense of responsibility and determination in the future teachers we train. This acts as the driving force behind the Professional Education Unit at the University of Pikeville. Several elements complement this conceptual framework by defining standards and approaches advocated by Teacher Education Programs at the University of Pikeville. Teacher candidates are presented with a model of teaching that involves goal-directed planning, observation, and assessment of plans as they are implemented, and the flexibility and skills to continually adapt to the needs, changes, and events they discover. Faculty in the Patton College of Education stress the importance of a broad repertoire of teaching strategies, a pluralistic approach to classroom management, and a model of teachers as decision makers. Teacher candidates learn to approach teaching in this rational reflective manner, relying on a broad knowledge base, multiple areas of competence, and appropriate dispositions to facilitate genuine human relationships and meaningful learning experiences. Candidates enter the Teacher Preparation Programs at the University of Pikeville after they have completed the coursework in their content area majors and educational foundation courses. After admission, the teacher candidates participate in a full professional year. During the first semester of the professional year, we try to help solve the disconnect between the reality of the P-12 classroom and campus courses. Candidates are placed in the appropriate P-12 classroom half-days to learn content-specific pedagogy and classroom skills from master teachers. College professors spend time in the same classrooms and connect what is happening there to their campus classrooms. The second half of the day during the first semester, students are in education courses. During the second semester of their professional year, candidates spend an additional fourteen weeks completing a traditional student teaching assignment. The programs have been designed to enable candidates to complete their professional year and graduate from the institution within four years of entering the University.
